PIECES...

The word "pieces" often evokes a negative connotation in our minds.

When we think of pieces, we are filled with images of incompleteness and disunity. Combining pieces, however, can produce a masterpiece, whose beauty lies in its wholeness.

Pieces can be a metaphor for members of the Andrean family.

Each individual brings different talents and ideas to Andrean. Our diversity is united in classes, athletics, and organizational activities.

At Andrean, we work together to accomplish greater feats than were possible alone. Our various sports and academic teams have done exceptionally well this year due to their perseverance and commitment.

The productions at school have also been outstanding because of hard work and dedication. All this would not have been possible without a great deal of group effort. As a result, long-lasting friendships have been formed through hours of working together.

Each student, coach, and faculty member is a "piece" that contributes to the final picture. At Andrian, we base our beliefs in Christ's teachings of loving our neighbors as we love ourselves. This is the reason our teamwork is filled with such wonderful

Pieces can also be a metaphor for the individual. High school is a transitional period for most people. Upon entering high school, we at first feel out of place and a little lost. Andrean encourages students to explore interests and develop talents by offering a wide variety of camaraderie. At Andrean, the faculty and students help one another grow as individuals. We bring out the best in each other. Together, the various individuals or "pieces" combine to create a colorful and picture.

because of the Andean experience. Andean helps us to become stronger; independent individuals. We become more complete.

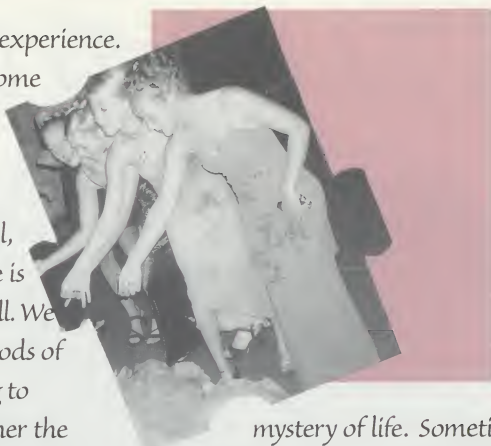

During high school, many of us learn that life is the greatest mystery of all. We often spend lengthy periods of time attempting to

Showing support, having fun Spirit Week

On Clash Day, Corey Rak and Jay Mindas mix plaid and prints for an outrageous look.

On Flashback Day Melanie Sims and Lindsey Staniszeski come to school adorned in clothes from the past.

Jerlinda Thomas and Patricia Smith attempt to make the senior hallway more out-standing than those in past years.

Will Suarez comes to school in eye-popping apparel.

Which one is which is the question on everyone's mind, including friends of Beth Wirtz and twin Nicole Fisher

Evvie Orfanos and Mia Pangere have fun showing off their out-of-this-world twin costumes.

Earning points for Armageddon, Erica Pagorek and Candice Lopez stay after school to decorate the junior hallway.

Brett Schmeid and Josh Smith pose for a moment to illustrate their frightening faces! OOh Scary!

Am I seeing double? No, triple! Traci Ruhland, Amanda Little, and Elisa Liszewski planned to arrive at school in identical outfits

Crowning the Queen HOMECOMING

Patricia Smith, queen of the 2000 homecoming celebration, joins Rashad Pace, the football king, during the dance.

Commenting on her choice as queen, Patricia said, "I am deeply honored to be part of Andrean's history. It is truly a pleasure to be Andrean's first African-American homecoming queen."

Angie Provenzano, the 1999 queen, returned for the celebration to pass her crown to Patricia.

The nominees for queen, Roz Skozen, Carrie King, Patricia Smith, Kacey Rak, and Evvie Orfanos gather to share congratulations after the crowning.

HOMECOMING 2000

The Secret Garden

To remember their first homecoming dance, Alex Eusebio captures pictures of Ruben Castillo, Sarah Ventura, and Kassie Fagen.

At their last homecoming, Sarah Franz, Amy Rich, Gina Shawver, Erin Phillips, Erin Backe, and Elizabeth Anderson pause to capture the moment.

Lyndsey Wilson stops long enough to help Joe Arand put himself back together.

The smiles on their faces reflect the unforgettable time Kyle Olesek and Tim Mestrich are having at the dance.

During a slow dance, Noel Betczynski and her date share a romantic moment.

Abbey Sylvester, Katie Goldman, and Jill Fowler move to the rhythms of the DJ.

Joe Novoa, Jessie Moutaw, Natalie Derezinski, Luis Guillen, Sarah Lipniskis, and Billy Penn enjoy a group dance.

Evvie Orfanos makes her way through the crowd to take a break from dancing.

Taking to the stage, Ryan Laude, Jon Craig, and Jim Batusic show off their moves to the homecoming throng.

Only Way Out

Presenting the original work written by students Ryan Cortazar and Dan DeBonis, student actors portrayed the consequences of suicide with dramatic renderings by victims.

As the play opened the five actors reveal the options available to them to end their lives and try to decide whether or not to go through with the final desperate act.

Tech crew members P.J. McMahon and Missy Elischer worked with Mr. Gloff to perfect the lighting.

Kate (Jeanne Hovanec) delivers her impassioned monologue about losing everything of importance in her life.

Jenny (Elyse Pancheri) begins to talk about why she is contemplating suicide.

As Drew (Adam Mandon) listens carefully, Kate (Jeanne Hovanec) considers her options.

Sid (Rich Batka) started the chain reaction leading others to believe that suicide was a reasonable solution.

Wayne (Joe Billick) begins a monologue in which he laments having to live in a small town from which he cannot escape.

Nathaniel (Matt McFarling) encountered each of the characters at some point in their lives. In this way he helped them to reflect on their decisions.

Mommy and Daddy Date Nights

The entire crowd gets up to participate in an energetic round of YMCA.

Diana Arand, Kristi Backe, and Stephanie Adams take a break from dancing and dinner. Kacey Rak and Tiffanie Morrison move to the music of the Electric Slide.

Myisha Lattimore smiles on stage as she shares a night with her father and friends.

Seniors Kacey Rak, Roz Skozen, Evvie Orfanos, Mia Pangere, Jenny Fus and Erin Backe hop in the stage to perform in the Casper Slide.

The senior boys gather for their final Mommy Date Night celebration. They all demonstrate that they know how to have a good time.

Mrs. Biscocho is looking forward to spending the evening dining and dancing with Rommel.

Hans and Jeff Bergstrom share the pleasure of their mother's company as they finish their dinner.

Mike Baron and his mom finish dinner so they can enjoy the DJ who provided the dance music.

Creating One Enchanted Evening Winter Formal

Jen Runes and Andrea Jimenez spend their entire night on the dance floor.

Laura Sims tries to coax Carlo Santori on to the dance floor for one last slow song.

Glen Hein and Joe Giannini boogey to the sounds of the Music Men.

The first to set foot on the dance floor, Emily Grim-mer and Julie Rakoczy get the party started.

In the midst of a slow song Zack Harville, Mark Bohling, and Annie Sikora pause to chat.

Matt Chabes and Amanda Maldonado top off a wonderful night by a dance with each other.

As the end of the night nears, Dirk Delor and Carly Califello share one last dance.

Kristyn Larsen takes a break from dancing to chat with a group of guys.

Before Emily Sopko left the Winter Formal she made sure to take home the center piece as a memento.

On her way back to her table, Kelly Konzen stops at the buffet to pick up a little something to snack on.

Helping with our feet Walk-a-thon

Leading the way, Joe Zaborske, Mike Kenning, Chris Balzer, Noel Betczynski, and Vanessa Avila start their journey around the school.

Lyndsey Wilson and Jessi Moutaw dared to be different. They chose to run around the school rather than walk.

Participating in Walk-a-thon for the first time, these freshman enjoy the outdoors together.

In order to raise money for the school's programs, organizations, and clubs, the Andean student body left the classrooms for the September sun.

Megan Kabella, Ashley Sears, Lindsey Mishevich, and Jorie Garcia are happy to be out of their classes and in the fresh air.

After their walk, Christina Nelson, Beth Wirtz, and Anne Wirtz are rewarded with water and ice cream sandwiches.

Showing our class
Style Show

Dressed in their best, the style show models prepare to take to the runway.

Lisa Walla and Kelly Pellar offer raffle tickets to those attending the show.

After a morning's work, Stephanie Adams, Cally Klaubo, Nikki Lazzaro, Diana Arand and Kristy Backe take a break.

Diana Arand happily offers a visitor the opportunity to buy one of the many decorated baskets.

James McNeice and Hans Bergstrom escort Roz Skozen down the runway in their formal best.

Gina Nicolini shows off the best in casual wear.

Evvie Orfanos takes a bow after successfully narrating the show.

Eric DeRolf shows everything including the vest and the lining of his outfit.

Katie Goldman and Joe Arand are all smiles as they accept the ooh's and aah's of the crowd.

Spring Musical rocks the house
Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

Tonya Vachirasomboon, playing Mrs. Potiphar, attempts to seduce Joseph.

At the end of "Go, Go, Go, Joseph," Joseph is proclaimed to be "ahead of his time."

Impersonating Elvis, Rich Batka, as the Pharaoh, interprets Joseph's dreams.

Glenn Bauser, as Joseph, explains the wonders of his technicolor dreamcoat.

Carrie Drapac, the narrator, introduces the second act.

Playing Potiphar, Rob Emond displays his vast wealth.

The brothers attempt to deceive their father about Joseph's whereabouts.

Reminiscing about the good old days, Dan DeBonis sings "Those Canaan Days."

Spring Concert sets standard of excellence

The New Broadway

Rachel Izak, Ben Blair, and Carrie Drapac gather for the finale of Les Miserables.

The band added highlights from Grease to the program

In the Miss Saigon segment Tonya Vachirasomboon and Dan DeBonis sing of their love played to a solo saxophone.

Nicole McDaniel is "Wishing You Were Somehow Here Again" in her solo from Phantom of the Opera.

Playing Mark from Rent, Ryan Cortazar expresses his disapproval of "La Vie Boheme."

Joe Reitan, as Enjolras, rallies the French citizens in "Do You Hear the People Sing?"

The Nineterettes strike a final pose in their Chicago Dance Medley.

Preparing for "Blue Man Group" Missy Elischer applies the all-important stage make-up.

Ever After sets the mood
Prom

The Casper slide is a favorite dance for Tasha Fuller, Neslie Davis, Kim Maravilla, and Alex Polus.

Whether the music is fast or slow, PJ McMahon and his date Jeanne Hovanec spend their night dancing.

Matt Glaros, Kelly Pellar, Rob Adlard, and Nick Pannos enjoy a look around the dance floor.

Queen candidates Jeanne Hovaec, Sam Mizwicki, Mia Pangere, and Sherita Shelton await the announcement of the winner.

Andy Gurnak has his date Hillarie Smigiel bending over backwards for him.

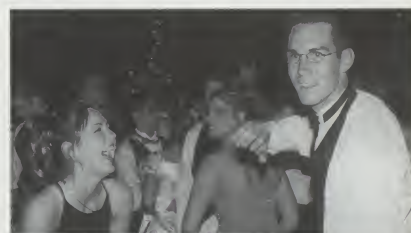

Kevin O'Neill steals the dance floor performing one of his many unique moves.

The last slow dance of the evening provides an opportunity for Padraig Martin and Julianne Henderlong to reflect on their night.

Reigning over the 2001 prom are Queen Sherita Shelton and King Ransom Thompson, who were chosen by their classmates.

Making sure that his date has an amazing time, Scott Franzen keeps Joan Vidimos entertained.

Candidates for king Drew Otte, Dave Kosinski, Eric DeRolf, and Ransom Thompson wait to hear the winner's name.

With a banner, a plaque, and three gold medals, the interdisciplinary team happily celebrates their achievement. Cassie Cook, Brian Kozak, and Tim Schwuchow traveled to Indianapolis for the competition without the services of their math expert Tyge Sopko, who was ill. Even shorthanded they were able to pull out the victory maintaining the level of excellence that has become the norm for Andean academic teams in state competitions.

As old hands at the state competition, Joe Zaborse and Tim Schwuchow knew that lots of practice was needed before they faced their opponents.

Dan DeBonis works with Rob Gutierrez as they prepare for the next meet.

Eric Simaga, Joe Zaborse, Andrea Mongoven, Steve Crockett, and Tim Schwuchow warm up before a big match with Chesterton.

Acropolis

Checking over the final pasteups, Editors in Chief Jeanne Hovanec and Jordan Troka look for mistakes.

Juniors Jen Purbaugh and Phaedra Ellington pass out the Acropolis to all the homerooms.

Signing her name to the last page of the Senior issue, Candace Nowak puts the finishing touches on the last issue of the year.

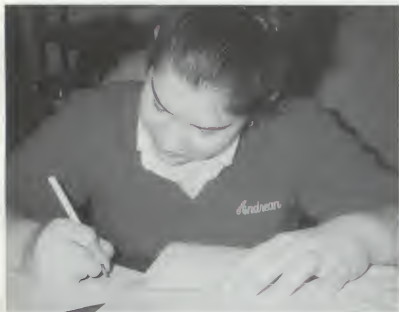

Junior Amy Rich, Entertainment editor, works on the design of the senior issue.

Decussata

Sophomore Joanna Backe diligently counts tallies from one of the many polls given to students.

Sport Editors Michele Sebben and Anne Wirtz watch Mrs. Steele as she instructs them on how to put their information into the computer.

Sophomore Stephanie Adams has a smile on her face while getting the tools she needs to complete her layout.

Senior Editors Roz Skozen and Tonya Vachirasomboon work on their layouts. Each girl has been a member of the yearbook staff for at least three years.

Latin Club

Preparing to act out the tragedy Julius Caesar, freshman Alexandria Eusebio, Mike Beres, and Jeffrey Bergstrom read their scripts and get in costume.

Juniors Lisa Walla, Bridget Schumann, Jamie Gutowski, and Alex Polus look like ancient philosophers as they strike a pose for the camera during foreign language week.

Allie Hannon and Eliza Salvo look like angels as they stop to take a picture before going to the cafeteria to sell breadsticks.

Seniors Adam Mandon, Greg Golec, Tiffanie Morrison, Eliza Salvo, Rosalinda Neri, Allie Hannon, Cassie Cook, and moderator Sr. Paul pose in their togas.

Alexandria Eusebio, Allie Hannon, Jeff Bergstrom, and Mike Heinlein create posters to put in the cafeteria during foreign language week.

German Club and Spanish Club

Expanding their culinary horizons, Ashley Pennington, Latrice Farmer, and Lauren Culver consume a wide variety of Spanish delicacies.

Volunteering their time and energy, Erica Pagorek and Kristen Opperman distribute platters of food to the needy.

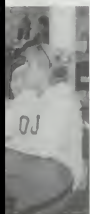

Giving it his all, Louis Grugel lends a hand in loading the food drive delivery truck.

Danielle Wilkerson, Jessica Nadolski, Maria Hernandez, and her mom are all smiles at the Potluck dinner.

Freshmen Amanda Ward and Carly Hamilton proudly showcase their German gingerbread house.

Seniors Carrie King, Kacey Rak, Justin Tillich and friend have a friendly conversation as they enjoy an authentic Spanish cuisine.

Aaron Gray, Carrie Hendrickson, and Jennifer Richards share a few laughs after finishing their meal.

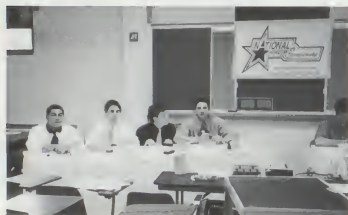

Cara Santori, Liz Adlard, and Cole Buchanan present their gingerbread creations to the entire German class.

Dannielle Beardsly and other members of the German Honor Society prepare plates for the hungry at a local soup kitchen.

For the third time in four years Quiz Bowl Takes State Title

Taking advantage of the opportunities in Washington, D.C., the team stops for a visit at the Folger Shakespeare Library. Questions on the Bard of Avon were not impossible so the quiz bowlers paid attention as Coach Friend filled them in on the important facts.

Vince Visuth, Tim Schwuchow, Dan DeBonis, and Steve Crockett prepare for the opening round at the national championships.

Under the bright lights and the careful scrutiny of the judges, Steve, Dan, Tim, and Joe confer before sounding the buzzer to give their response.

State Champions AGAIN!

With coaches Mr. Szot and Sister Carol Ann team members pause to savor yet another trip to Washington for the national competition.

The 2001 state champions are the following:

Vanessa Avila
Steve Crockett
Dan DeBonis
Rob Gutierrez
Andrea Mongoven
Tim Schwuchow
Eric Simaga
Vince Visuth
Joe Zaborske

Joe Zaborske takes center stage behind the microphone. He must be reliving that happy moment when he came up with his correct answer, "sheetrock." Rob Gutierrez, Tim Schwuchow, Dan DeBonis, and Steve Crockett relax before their last round.

DANCE & SPIRIT TEAM

Kristen Lendi is prepared to fight for the state title.

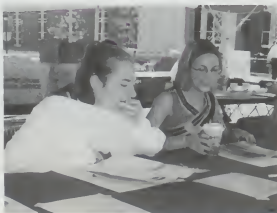

The Ninerettes, with their coaches Mr. and Mrs. Gloff, celebrate as they display their state championship trophy after winning the division III title in their first year of competition.

After a strenuous practice, the girls relax with back massages.

Active even before the season begins, Meredith Hallett and Roz Skozen volunteered for the American Cancer Society's breast cancer walk.

Rachel Wayne fixes Danni Beardsley's hair in preparation for competition.

At the Andrean open house, Lyndsey Wilson reviews a dance with Laura Sims.

Cathy Giorgio and Rachel Izak help each other stretch as part of their warm-up.

The Ninerettes bust a move at the state competition.

Prior to the homecoming game, the Ninerettes try to stay warm as they huddle under their blankets.

Choreographers of the award-winning routine, Tonya Vachirasomboon and Carrie Drapac put on their fight club faces before taking to the floor.

SUCCESS REQUIRES YEAR- ROUND PRACTICE

Theology

Beginning the Baby-Think-It-Over project, Stephanie Adams and Liz Adlard get acquainted with their new babies.

Anticipating everything she might need, Sam Roper prepares for the long weekend with her newborn baby.

Joan Vidimos, Joanna Sajda, and Jackie Cooper look on as Elizabeth Cera takes her turn at the game the girls created that reveals the discrimination between races.

Lauren Konrady, Bill Penn, and Jessica Ramer construct posters that express their Catholic faith.

What is the most valuable lesson you learned in theology?

I have learned that we are all called by God to do a specific thing.

Ryan Lubash
Freshman

I have learned that God is always going to give me another chance and that I am lucky to be alive.

Mary Bochucinski
Sophomore

I have learned how to treat people the way they want to be treated.

Crystal Boose
Junior

I have learned that no matter what happens God is still in control and all things work together for those who love the Lord.

Kiana Cox
Senior

Displaying our unity with Christ as our teacher, Bishop Melczek leads the Andrian family in the annual opening Mass.

Julie Campbell, Karen Maginot, and Candice Lopez play the game they created for their social gospel class.

Cara Santori and Dan Billick share their experiences after a weekend with their "babies." Jerry Brown looks for tips on baby care so that his experience will be better than theirs.

English

Alex Polus reads from her Civil War diary as she reveals the beauty of the written word.

Dressing the parts of pioneer women, Kristy Harville and Jackie Cooper share their frontier experiences with their classmates.

Cathleen Nelson and Eric Vojvodich read the lines of Roxann and Christian as they enjoy open house from a new perspective.

Who was your favorite character in a short story or novel? Why?

My favorite character is Scout from To Kill a Mockingbird because she is so outspoken and funny.

Katie Franz
Freshman

I like Cyrano de Bergerac because he illustrated what a true gentleman would do for his love. He also put his life on the line for his love.

Gina Gregorczyk
Sophomore

I like Lennie Small from Of Mice and Men because he is just like me—he's big, he's dumb, and he likes rabbits.

Eric Naglich
Junior

I have chosen Jay Gatsby from The Great Gatsby because he lived his dream.

James McNiece
Senior

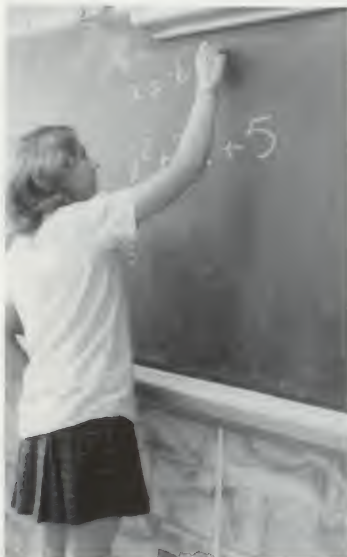

With drums, flutes, muskets, and scrolls, Edie Cespedes, Kelly Pellar, Anne Rueth, and Meagan Austgen reenact Revolutionary War scenes.

Dressing as their favorite punctuation mark was not easy for Jacinta Anigbo, Brigette Sanchez, Jordan Chelovich, Pauley Gasparis, Nikki Lazzaro, Steve Crockett, and Maggie McGuan, but they managed to make a choice (and a costume).

Math

Nicole Fischer writes the formula that will help her solve her algebra equation.

Lending a helping hand, Peter Gillo shows Alex Sienkiewicz how to solve for  $x$ .

Father Pat welcomes students and parents at open house and encourages them to open their minds to the world of math.

What is X?

X is a variable, or unknown. Any real number can be substituted for it when it is by itself.

X is a variable.

X is an unknown quantity that can be solved for when put into different equations.

X is a variable for a number that is unknown.

Brandon Huseman
Freshman

Jason Ashby
Sophomore

Anne Wirtz
Junior

Rob Adlard
Senior

Making sure that she didn't make a mistake, Laurel Wright concentrates on her equation.

Because of knowledge of math, Brooke Bosak solves her problem with confidence.

Tina Hernandez and Kristin James show that math can be fun as they share a laugh over their homework.

Science

Under the watchful eye of George Umbarger, Steve Crockett carefully records his observations.

Jasmine McCully and Jason Nejman show incoming students different experiments they will need to perform in a variety of science classes.

Sorting seeds by type, Afton Hamilton gets ready to begin a science experiment.

Revealing the secrets of science, Tim Schwuchow displays his knowledge at Open House.

What was your most memorable experience in a lab?

My moment came when we experimented with blood.

Amy Goetz
Freshman

We put water in a pop can and heated it until the water boiled. When we flipped the can and plunked it in cold water, it crushed itself.

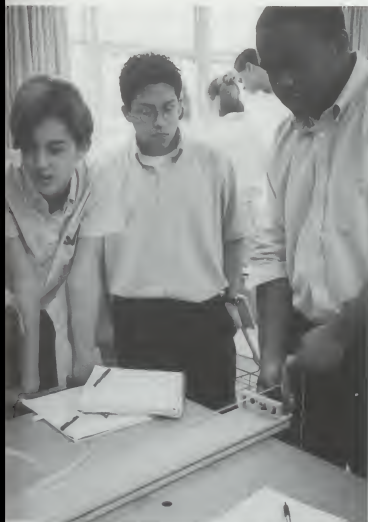

Andy Dolder
Sophomore

Two persons held a rope and produced standing waves.

Michele Sebben
Junior

When we had to do the fly lab, we opened the reproduction chamber and it smelled so awful we had to open the windows.

Cathy Giorgio
Senior

Katie Sheaks and Lauren Rykovich determine the amount of each substance that is required for their experiment.

Jennifer Mendoza, Gene Maya, and Tom McFarling measure the acceleration of a can during physics lab.

Social Studies

Joe Smock records vital information regarding territorial gains for his country during Grand Strategy.

Bri Sawa and Pauley Gasparis quickly react to the new information given to them during a crucial World War I battle.

Mr. Goad's class waits anxiously for the fastest finger question so they can become a contestant for extra credit.

As the leader of Italy, Jerry Brown confides in Eric Vojvodich about what their next step ought to be as work to achieve domination.

If you could change one event in history, what would it be?

I would change the Viet Nam War. It was a pointless war and cost too many lives.

John Kessler
Freshman

I'd eliminate the Holocaust. If it were up to me, it never would have happened.

Greg Hilbrich
Sophomore

The event I would change is the assassination of President Kennedy. He was really on the road to changing the U.S. for the better.

Eric Naglich
Junior

Nothing! Everything happens for a reason.

Carrie Hendrickson
Senior

Jake Fowler, Matt McDonald, and Jason Ashby make a secret alliance with an enemy to gain control in Grand Strategy.

Kelly Schwuchow, Jamie Opperman, Mike Rueth, Jacinta Anigbo, and Lindsey Staniszeski reveal their nationalistic feelings for their country as they display their flag.

Under Mr. Goad's watchful eye, Cally Klaubo decides what her answer will be during "Who Wants to be a Millionaire?"

Languages

Members of the German Honor Society show their holiday spirit during open house.

Gathering with a masked stranger (who does not seem to have the holiday spirit) are Kristen Opperman, Jamie Opperman, Joan Krilich, Jeremiah Sinclair, and Mike Nelson.

With loud voices and great gusto, Hans Bergstrom, Dan Billick, Steve Mandula, and Tim Schwuchow sing along to a German favorite.

During foreign language week many posters were displayed in the cafeteria and in the hallways. This addition was created and put up by Shanae Coleman.

What foreign language are you taking? Why?

I take Latin because it is fun and I'll learn a lot.

Rachele Salvo
Freshman

I'm taking Spanish because I'm a Mexican being raised outside by culture. This will help me understand what people say there.

Renee Neanover
Sophomore

I take Latin and German. I believe languages help us become a larger part of the world community.

Tim Schwuchow
Junior

I am taking Latin IV because I have a extreme interest in the Roman culture and I love Sister Paul.

Tiffanie Morrison
Senior

Krissy Ray, Andrea Fernandez, and Ashley Ness seem reluctant to share the goodies with their French classmates.

Pdraig Martin and P.J. McMahon demonstrate the variety of options available to them as they dressed for Spanish class during foreign language week.

During open house Sister Paul explained her Latin program to prospective students.

Health and Gym

As observers from the open house crowd learn about their health, Trainer Marovich conducts an educational game.

Doing everything he can to insure victory, Brian Sopko races to catch the ball for his team.

Freshman boys get ready to defend themselves as the opposition gathers their dodgeballs to begin their assault.

Steve Walsh and Ryne Pishkur plan their strategy to secure a win for their team.

Executing a carefully planned attack, freshman boys work for a dodgeball win.

What is your favorite sport or game gym? Why is it?

I like dodgeball because it is a good way to relieve tension without getting in trouble.

Nick Stockwell
Freshman

I like volleyball because it lets you work as a team with your classmates.

Lauren Rykovich
Sophomore

Dodgeball allows students of all athletic skill levels to let their competitive juices flow. The combination of chance and ability make it hard to master, but thrilling to try.

Jamie Gutowski
Junior

I like both soccer and baseball.

Dan Clayton
Senior

In an effort to improve their basketball skills, freshmen practice their shots.

Facing off in a popular dodgeball match, two teams fight for domination.

Leaning into position, Nicole Nowak gets ready to make the save.

With her eye on the ball, Brooke Bosak prepares to set the volleyball for her teammate.

Practical Arts

Tiffanie Meredith uses the mixer to whip one of the favorites in independent living.

Samantha Mizwicki, Erin Backe, Sarah Laib, and Cheryl Bosse show that you can have fun while preparing for the future.

Marcelina Martinez creates part of her christmas decoration during her crafts class.

Shari Dowell works quietly and concentrates to construct the perfect spring project.

Do you think practical arts prepare you for the future?

Yes. Without this class some people may never learn to take care of themselves when they are on their own.

They do. The skills you learn in these classes help you when you are independent and living on your own.

I have learned to do things that I would not have learned otherwise. Before I couldn't even sew on a button. Now I can make my clothes.

Yes. They help you become more independent and learn to live in the real world.

Michelle McIntyre
Freshman

Amy Molnar
Sophomore

Crystal Boose
Junior

Tiffanie Morrison
Senior

Lindsey Rozgonyi uses her hard earned skills to perfect her project hoping for an A.

Mrs. Wlozanski teaches Aeisha Brown the right way to hem her t-shirt.

Crystal Boose, Aeisha Brown, and Patricia Smith check each others work for flaws before they have in their projects.

Fine Arts

Justin Tillich and Gina Nicolini celebrate the awards they have won for the art works they submitted in competition.

Rick Davila and Tom McFarland grind glass as they design a project in art workshop.

Mr. Guzman demonstrates various renderings of the human hand for Veronica Ricol.

What became your most memorable piece of work?

I'll always remember that two pictures that I had drawn were put in the display case.

Whitney Wadsworth
Freshman

I liked when I made a Snoop Dogg cookie jar.

Chris Tubbs
Sophomore

My favorite picture of ducks is in my mom's bedroom next to a fingerpainted heart I made when I was 10

Heather Cope
Junior

My best piece of work was my ceramic head. My brother took it to college against my will, so I made a new one this year.

Mike Moreth
Senior

Chris Westerfield and Jason Rackosy get to know the backs of their hands as they reproduce them on paper.

Mrs. Koteles shows Jenny Fus how to improve her project.

Felipe Maya makes certain that the glass he is cutting will fit into his pattern.

Music

Rosa Rodriguez adds her solo voice to the Offertory prayers at the Baccalaureate Mass.

Meredith Hallett and Danielle Smith practice their parts as they prepare for the spring concert.

After singing for each school Mass, the choir concluded the year with a performance at the Radisson when they sang for the class of 2000.

Michelle Arias-Miller, Teresa Moreno, Laura White, Nicole McDaniel, and Valery Dall listen carefully for their cues as they rehearse for the concert.

What is your favorite song from music class? Why?

I like "Will I?" from Rent. It is a beautiful song with great harmony. I really like to sing it.

Stephen Giorgio
Freshman

I love all the songs in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

Chrissy Derek
Sophomore

I prefer "On My Own."

Sarah Yurechko
Junior

My favorite is Bach's "Brandenburg Concertos."

Mike Nelson
Senior

Mr. Gloff demonstrates just one of his many musical talents as he trades the keyboard for his guitar.

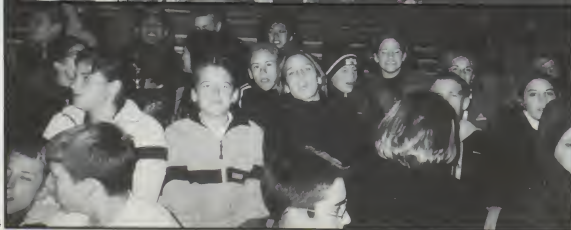

During the fall football season, the band donned their uniforms and used their talents to fire up the crowd and entertain it with their half-time show.

Mike Filipowski completed four years of work on the drums when he marched with the Niner band in the fall.

Foreign Language Week was a great excuse to grab an old sheet and make a toga. Stephanie Govert, Tim Schwuchow, Joanna Sajda, Kim Maravilla, Jamie Gutowski, Alex Polus, Bridget Schumann, and Dan DeBonis added their own style to the basic Roman garb.

Smiling in spite of the cold, Kim Maravilla, Jorie Garcia, Joanna Sajda, Erica Pagorek, and Matt Jensen hope for a Niner victory.

Basketball season is a good excuse to dress up and get crazy as the Niner gym becomes a challenge for all visitors.

Sarah Veronesi learned a long time ago that when things get to be too much for you the solution is always a nap.

Working behind the scenes to make sure everything is in place for the audience, Steve Dubec sets the chairs in place.

Under the watchful eye of the judge, Melanie Sims prepares her answer as she competes with the Spell Bowl team.

Working throughout the year, the officers planned activities, dress up and down days, as well as all graduation activities. The student council was led by Tiffanie Morrison, Kacey Rak, Cassie Cook, and Cathy Giorgio. Their duties included the planning of dances, activities such as homecoming, and the spring favorite, Armageddon. The efforts of these seniors proved that cooperation was essential and that pulling together was rewarding.

Senior Superfans

Stick Together

Whether at a pep rally or any one of a number of athletic events, seniors were there to cheer their classmates.

One of the memorable appearances was made by the Niner Dudes at the basketball rally just before sectionals. Each game saw seniors take the front rows in a variety of costumes to support their teams.

Dressed for success, Dave Kosinski, Kate McGuan, Alli Hannon and Drew Otte might have been headed to a dance rather than a basketball game, but no one was ever quite sure what to expect from the home crowd, except unflinching support.

When the bowling team headed downstate for their first competitive finals, they did not go without fan support. Emily Hilbrich and Julie Rakoczy donned Superfan shirts and grabbed their pompoms as they cheered the team.

Senior Winners - Pulling Together

Sporting events brought seniors together as they came to cheer their classmates. From the early fall to late spring, Niners could count on the support of friends as they took to the fields and courts. Whether running a course by himself, or joining hands with fellow players, all Niners knew they were not alone.

Celebrating Together

From dancing with their dates to dancing with a championship team, seniors knew how to have fun and how to excel. As their final year unfolded, seniors joined each other in a variety of activities that strengthened old friendships and created new ones.

Seniors Shine - With Winning Smiles

Rob Emond and Carrie Drapac captivate the audience with their duet in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

Carrie King and Jenny Fus took a trip back to the 70's during Spirit Week.

Cassie Cook, Rachel Wayne, Tonya Vachirasomboon and Carrie Drapac celebrate the success of the Ninerettes.

In the excitement of the Halloween Dance Gina Shawver, Sarah Franz, Erin Backe, and Evelyn Orfanos show off their costumes.

Baccalaureate

Reading from the book of Romans, Kiana Cox shares her love of the word of God with her classmates at their final Mass together.

As the Mass continues, Robert Falconburg, Natalie Fantetti, Justin Fernandez, and Mike Filipowski contemplate their Andean experience.

Under Mr. Gloff's direction, the choir lent their voices to the celebration.

Emily Hilbrich receives the Eucharist from the Bishop.

As the Bishop completes his homily, Cheryl Bosse anticipates the reception of her diploma.

Myisha Lattimore leads the responsorial psalms for the congregation.

Concelebrating the Mass for the class of 2001 were Father Kime, Bishop Melczyk, and Father Quanz.

Clark Sterley enjoys the Bishop's reflections.

Jen Runes leads those in her row to their places as Mass begins.

Justen Castellanos receives the body of Christ.

Commencement

After receiving their diplomas, the class presented their symbols

Meredith Hallett, Rachel Izak,
Carrie Drapac, and Tonya
Vachirasomboon sing of the "Life Uncommon."

Class president Pat Croner leads the class in the traditional changing of the tassels.

Valedictorian Eliza Salvo urges her classmates to remember each other and all that they have shared.

Asking "What was the purpose of all this?" Carrie Drapac, salutatorian, explained that the class had been prepared for the final exam that is life.

The alma mater rang out as the graduation celebration concluded.

2000-2001

Looking through the pages of the Decussata, it may be surprising to see how we have all changed
this past year.

Andrean has helped us make positive decisions to better ourselves

in the ever-changing
course of life. At Andrean, we may have begun to piece together parts of our lives, but we have not yet finished the puzzle. Our wholeness as individuals, a family, and community members will come together piece by piece.

In the process, each one of <sup>us</sup> will continue to learn and grow every day of our lives.

So, take a look back at where you began.

Realize that each piece of the puzzle is shaping who you are, and remember Andean's role in the great scheme of...
